THE DETAIL

Location & Access:

The Maa Trust and Guest House are located on the edge of the Maasai Mara National Reserve, between the Olare Motorogi Conservancy and Naboisho Conservancy. There are no park or conservancy fees payable nightly, only where relevant for activities. Wildlife such as zebra, giraffe, buffalo, and wildebeest are regularly seen walking past the house – you are truly immersed in nature here.

Flying In: The closest airstrips are Olare Orok (30 minutes) or Ol Kiombo (40 minutes – requires park fee to be charged on this day; your guide can meet you with a picnic to maximise the day).

Driving In: Arriving by road with your own driver-guide is a great option. From Nairobi, it is approximately 5 ½ hours' drive, depending on traffic in the city and weather conditions.

Activities:

Game Drives in the Main Maasai Mara National Reserve: The Zebra Plains gate is just fifteen minutes' drive away, accessing a beautiful and game-rich area of the reserve. A delicious picnic lunch, snacks, and cool drinks will be provided to maximise your day exploring with your guide. Must be pre-booked at the time of booking: US$270 for safari guide and vehicle, plus applicable park fees. Game drives in the conservancies are not possible.

Hot Air Ballooning: The balloon launch sites at Talek are only twenty minutes' drive away. Current rates: US$510 per adult. Enquire for child rates and rules. Pre-booking is recommended but can be arranged during your stay, subject to availability.

Visit the Maa Trust: Just a couple of minutes' walk away, The Maa Trust is a non-profit organisation working to conserve the beautiful Maasai Mara ecosystem by empowering the Maasai communities who live within it through their three pillars: Education and Child Protection, Water and Health, and Sustainable Livelihoods. Learn about the inspiring programmes from one of the team, watch the women from the local villages making their beadwork, and purchase beautiful items to take home, including leather bags, jewellery, festive decorations, and homewares. A donation is included in your stay.

Visit the Centre for Ecosystem Restoration (CERK): Next to The Maa Trust is CERK, a non-profit organisation that works across the country to restore ecosystems and reintroduce indigenous vegetation to improve biodiversity, collaborating with and upskilling rural communities. This is their savannah location, home to their impressive indigenous tree nursery, which has 42 species. A tour costs US$20 per person, including a forest walk. Tree-planting is also possible (must be pre-booked), at a cost of US$150 per tree.

At the House: The house is the perfect spot to catch up with friends or family members. Children can play on the lawn, all surrounded by nature – it's not uncommon for a giraffe or a herd of zebra to stroll by. There are board games and books, and a visit to The Maa Trust is a must-do. Afternoon tea, sundowners, and evening campfires are offered daily. The house includes a manager, chef, housekeeper, and waiter.

For Families: Children of all ages are welcome and well catered for. Two rooms have daybeds that can be converted into beds for children. The house provides baby- and child-appropriate dining and cutlery sets, high chairs, cots, a wide range of toys, games, and books, and plenty of activities to keep children entertained, including bow and arrow games, arts and crafts, making pizza and cookies with the chef, and beadwork classes with the Maa Beadwork ladies.
